

HSRA Awards 2023

Researcher Educator Award

The Research Educator refers to a scientist whose job is to teach students and staff about research conduct, helping them develop skills required for professional research. Within this capacity he/she expands his own research program and developing juniors under his/her wings to pass on this baton to future generation of scientists. Researcher educator must show excellence in teaching and research in either education research, or discovery research in the areas of basic science, education, public health and qualitative research. Innovation in teaching such as use of technology enhance learning and its impact on learning outcomes.

Criteria:

- Research teaching and training undergraduates/graduate / post-graduate.

Nomination Requirements:

- Share the details in the google form.