Health Sector Reform and Evaluation

Standalone Course with Graduate Credits

September 3rd – December 24th, 2024 | 2:30 pm to 5:30 pm | Every Tuesday

The Master of Health Policy and Management (MHPM) Programme is pleased to announce a standalone course scheduled for September-December 2024. This course is part of the programme curriculum but can also be taken without enrolling in a degree programme. Course credits can contribute towards a master's degree.

Course Description

This course will familiarize participants with a structured approach for identifying health sector deficiencies and developing sustainable reform policies to improve the health system's performance. The course enhances critical thinking over what is meant by health sector reform, and its conceptual basis and exposes participants to different aspects of reform including financing, regulation, purchasing, organization, etc., in the context of low- and middle-income countries. Furthermore, it develops essential skills for monitoring and evaluation of health sector performance, adoption of appropriate tools and frameworks, and identification of key performance indicators to track progress on reform initiatives.

Course credits can contribute towards a master's degree:

Candidates who will achieve a cGPA of 3.5 or above after completing two courses or a cGPA of 3.0 or above after completing three courses are exempted from writing the Admission Test. They will be required to appear for an Interview. The courses are valid for three years only for entry into the MHPM programme.

Audience

- Programme managers from NGO and public sectors, policymakers, health system researchers, and health system academia
- Professionals from medicine, allied health professions, and biological sciences.

Course Director: Dr. Maryam Huda
